Personal Responsibility of Participants in the Clubs Cycling Activities

All persons taking part in Club activities are responsible for ensuring that their own cycles are safe and that they comply with any legal requirements which are in force. Cycles used on the highway must be roadworthy. Cycles used on the track must meet any requirements imposed by the velodrome. All terrain cycles must meet any requirements imposed by the management of any course on which they are to be used. It is the responsibility of each Club member to ensure that his or her own cycle complies with the requirements set out in this paragraph: the club does not check or warrant the condition of any cycle used by any member.

While Club road and all terrain cycle runs may use routes suggested by the ride leader, it remains the responsibility of each participant to ensure his or her own safety at all times. In particular, each member is responsible for ensuring that he or she complies with the highway code and with all road traffic legislation. It is also the responsibility of each member to ensure that his or her cycling abilities are sufficient to enable them to ride any particular route safely.

It is the responsibility of parents or guardians of young persons under the age of 16 to ensure that they are adequately supervised during Club activities and not that of the Club or any of its officers. Such young persons may take part in Club activities with the consent of their parents or guardians provided that their parents or guardians are satisfied that they have the appropriate skills and experience to do so in a safe manner.

I confirm that I have read and understood the above. I accept what is stated there and consent to the young person named above taking part in Club activities under these conditions.
